BICENTENNIAL BALL TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Delaware, Ohio – Tickets for the final official event of Delaware County's and the City of Delaware's Bicentennial – the Presidential Ball – are now on sale.

The event, planned Saturday, Oct. 4 from 6-11 pm in Ohio Wesleyan University's Benes Room, will honor the 186th birthday of Delaware's favorite son and 19th U.S. President, Rutherford B. Hayes. Local historian Ed Lentz will provide a tribute to Hayes during the ball.

Semi-formal or period attire is requested; prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Musical entertainment will be provided by In Full Swing, a 16-piece swing band.

A limited number of tickets are now available for $30 each. The ticket price includes dinner, beverages and a dessert buffet. Tickets can be purchased at Beehive Books, 25 N. Sandusky St., and the County Recorder Office, 140 N. Sandusky St., both in downtown Delaware. Forms to purchase tickets by mail can be picked up at the main branch of the Delaware County District Library, 84 E. Winter St. Forms can also be printed at the Delaware County bicentennial web site, www.delawareco200.com.
